Carranza's Attitude Unknown in Juarez

EL PASO, Texas, Mar. 11.—First Chief Carranza's attitude toward the United States as a result of Villa's brigandage is unknown to General Gavira the commandant at Juarez, who stated to the Associated Press tonight that he had received no word from the Mexican government relative to the crisis, but added that General Luis Gutierrez, military head of the state of Chihuahua would arrive at Juarez on a special train tomorrow for a conference. In reply to the question as to whether General Pershing would be a party to the conference the General answered in the negative. He said the conference was entirely personal. He was quick to deny the report that the Mexican populace had taken a hostile view of President Wilson's position.

"I have the greatest faith in Mr. Wilson's disinterestedness and friendly motives," he said, "and I am quite as positive that General Gutierrez shares my views. We shall be glad to co-operate with the United States. Inquiries among well informed Mexicans in Juarez showed that the idea of American troops on Mexican soil is not altogether welcome. One Mexican in an official position spoke guardedly of the affair but expressed his real feelings in this form:

"We are now placing large forces in the field against Villa and I hope we can dispose of him before the North American troops cross the border. It would be much better from the Mexican viewpoint to let us finish him ourselves. Then there would be no possibility of any clashes or misunderstandings."

Any movement the American troops make in the territory south and southwest of Columbus into which the raiders fled will be influenced by the location of water holes, pumping stations and other places where horses and men can obtain water in dry and sandy country. It was said here that the commander of the expedition probably would station guards at the water holes to protect them and also to prevent the bandits from making use of them.

Movements Clothed in Secrecy.

Washington, Mar. 11.—General Funston under orders from President Wilson to put down Villa's bandit army was moving his troops at the border tonight behind a veil of rigid secrecy.

War department officials, who had given the veteran border commander a free hand in working out details of the expedition made it clear that they regarded it imperative to success that all information which might aid Villa in eluding the American forces must be guarded scrupulously.

It was apparent only that the military plans contemplated a drive into Mexico that should be both quick and certain. The war department is willing to take no chances by weakening the border patrol, and General Funston's orders were not to move until he was fully prepared.

Secretary Baker and his chief subordinates remained at the war department until late tonight receiving dispatches from General Funston and doing everything in their power to back up his plans.

Forward Despatches To Wilson.

Many of the despatches were forwarded by wireless to President Wilson down the Potomac of the Mayflower. But whether troops had entered Mexico or just when they might move across the border the officials would not say.

General Funston himself has urged that all secrecy surround the movement of troops, so that he may have an opportunity to surprise the bandit chieftain.

While extensive troop movements were in progress along the border during the day, the state department received from General Carranza, head of the defunct government of Mexico a request for permission to send bandits, should occasion arise. The note was forwarded immediately to President Wilson on the Mayflower and tonight he sent word that he would consider it until his return to the capital Monday morning and then would confer with Secretary Lansing before making any decision.

There was every indication that officials viewed General Carranza's request in a favorable light. It was suggested however, that such a reciprocal arrangement probably never would result in single Carranza soldier entering the United States at once.

It is taken for granted by officers here, however, that the Villa bandits already have scattered among the hills and they do not look for a pitched battle which, they say, would mean certain annihilation of the bandits.

LANSING SEEKS DETAILS OF SINKING OF SILIUS

NORWEGIAN BARK IS TORPEDOED WITHOUT WARNING

Seven American Citizens are Rescued From Ship—Officials Refrain from Forming Opinion Until Details are Received.

BULLETIN.

HARVE, March 11.—The American sailors in the crew of the Norwegian bark Silius sunk by a torpedo were Daniel Novak, Norfolk, Conn.; Henry Monahan, Boston; David Sherman, New Bedford, Mass.; Sam Sullivan, Atlantic City; John Hartmann, Philadelphia; Cunliffe, Atlantic City; John W. Vangalen, Melrose, Mass.

The rescued sailors stated to the American consul that the vessel was torpedoed without warning and sank in 5 minutes. The Americans will be sent to their homes by the Norwegian consulate.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Lansing today instructed Consul Osborn at Havre, France, to obtain and forward immediately all available details of the sinking in Havre roads of the Norwegian bark Silius, from which seven American citizens were rescued. Consul Osborn had reported previously that the Silius was torpedoed without warning on the night of March 9th.

If a torpedo did destroy the bark, which was bound to Havre from New York with grain, the government responsible will be held to strict accountability. Such an act would be contrary to all the assurances which the United States has received.

Officials seemed inclined, however, to refrain from forming an opinion until it is known positively that a torpedo and not a mine sunk the ship.

Should Consul Osborn's investigation establish that a torpedo actually was responsible, the United States officials indicated our government will view the matter as even more serious than if a passenger carrying vessel was involved. The state department considers that American seamen have even a greater claim to protection than passengers. A passenger travels at his discretion as a seaman is compelled to do so by his occupation.

PATROLS ALONG BORDER NEAR NOGALES, ARIZ., ARE DOUBLED

NOGALES, Ariz., March 11.—Patrols along the international boundary near here were doubled today. Wild rumors promising invasion of United States as well as invasion of Mexico were carried thru the crowds which filled the streets in Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora, just across the border.

Both towns were tranquil tonight. The Carranza soldiers at Nogales, Sonora, strolled the streets or lounged about the plaza where band concerts were given. On the American side an artillery drill by American soldiers was conducted back of the town, hidden from view of the many Mexican refugees. This measure, it was said, was taken as a precaution against exciting Mexicans.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. WILSON WALK ABOUT NEWPORT NEWS

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., March 11.—President and Mrs. Wilson, on a week end cruise aboard the yacht Mayflower, spent an hour today walking about Newport News. To walk sunset the yacht dropped down to Old Point and anchored for the night.

The Mayflower stopped here near the German prize ship Appam, which the president's party viewed with great interest. The yacht is expected to remain at Old Point until late tomorrow.

TWO MILLION ACRES DESIGNATED AS ENTERABLE BY HOMESTEADERS

WASHINGTON, March 11.—More than 2,000,000 acres of public lands were designated by the interior department as enterable by homesteaders in February, it was announced today. Some of the land already has been settled and applications have been filed for settlement on much of the rest. The land opened is scattered throughout nearly 200 counties in nine western states. In Arizona 17,000 acres were opened; in California, 75,000; Colorado, 160,000; Kansas, 17,000; Montana, 30,000; North Dakota, 250,000; Oregon, 130,000; South Dakota, 1,000,000 acres in the Blackfeet, Lemmon and Rapid City districts; Wyoming, 270,000.

There was every indication that officials viewed General Carranza's request in a favorable light. It was suggested however, that such a reciprocal arrangement probably never would result in single Carranza soldier entering the United States at once.

It is taken for granted by officers here, however, that the Villa bandits already have scattered among the hills and they do not look for a pitched battle which, they say, would mean certain annihilation of the bandits.

At the same time it is felt that

MORMON COLONY IN NO DANGER FROM ATTACK BY VILLA BANDITS

GAVIATON, Ia.—Sufficient reinforcements have been sent into the District to Protect the Foreigners.

EL PASO, Tex., March 11.—The Mormon colony of Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, is no longer in danger from attack by Villa bandits, according to General Gabriel Gavira, commandant at Juarez. General Gavira stated that sufficient reinforcements had been sent into the district to protect the foreigners there and that the refugee trains held in readiness to leave for the north probably would not be sent.

The only train expected tonight from the south was a special carrying General Luis Gutierrez from Chihuahua to Juarez, where he is to confer with General Gavira.

Gavira has preserved his usual calm. General Gavira has cavalry patrols out during the night.

In El Paso some apprehension was aroused among the authorities by the large number of Mexicans crossing over into Texas, but an investigation showed that they came to get out of the range of any conflict. Many declared they had seen enough of war.

Rumors concerning Villa recruiting agents operating in Juarez have not stood the test of inquiry.

The leading newspapers in Spanish refrain from publishing the invasion question.

Alto the border is closely patrolled by the Americans, the main object is to catch any contraband arms that may be passing thru to the Villistas. The regular army of Mexico is given every facility in the way of obtaining supplies and General Pertani has placed a large order in El Paso.

AVIATOR IS KILLED INSTANTLY IN FALL

ROBINSON'S BI-PLANE PLUNGES 13,000 FEET TO THE GROUND

Petrol Tank Explodes When Machine Strikes Ground and Aviator's Body is Burned Almost Beyond Recognition.

GRINNELL, Iowa, Mar. 11—W. C. (Billy) Robinson, one of the foremost of American aviators and head of the Grinnell aero school, was killed instantly at 4:20 this afternoon when his bi-plane, in which he was trying for an altitude record, plunged to the ground from a height of 13,000 feet. As the machine struck the ground the petrol tank exploded and the resultant fire destroyed the plane and burned the aviator's body almost beyond recognition.

The accident occurred near Ewart, Iowa, ten miles from this city.

Robinson was 32 years old and is survived by his widow and four children. He had lived at Grinnell practically all his life. He had been in the flying game about six years and was holder of the American record for sustained flight which he won a year ago flying without a stop from Des Moines to Chicago. Over the latter city he became confused owing to a heavy fog which he encountered and finally landed near Hammond, Ind.

The aviator's body was brought back to Grinnell late tonight by relatives.

Witnesses estimated the height at which Robinson was flying at 13,000 feet. While flying at that height the machine appeared to waver and started to fall. Evidently realizing his danger, Robinson endeavored to volplane gradually to the earth and for more than 500 feet succeeded in holding the machine in its spiral, gliding course. The next 500 feet, according to witness, was marked by a series of fluttering drops at the end of which Robinson would succeed in righting the machine for a moment. When 300 feet from the ground, however, he lost control completely and the machine darter to the earth.

The dead aviator was known as a cautious flier and avoided the spectacular feats which characterized the performances of his contemporary, Lincoln Beachey.

WITNESSES ESTIMATED THE HEIGHT AT WHICH ROBINSON WAS FLYING AT 13,000 FEET.

THERE HAVE BEEN NO INDICATIONS THAT THE GERMANS HAVE ATTEMPTED TO FOLLOW UP THEIR ATTACK. ALTHOUGH THE FRENCH CONTINUE TO OFFER STUBBORN DEFENSE BEFORE VERDUN THE GERMANS HAVE SUCCEEDED IN REGAINING ADDITIONAL GROUND.

THE OFFICIAL FRENCH STATEMENT SAYS THE GERMANS HAVE CAPTURED PART OF THE TOWN OF VAUX, NORTHEAST OF VERDUN BUT WERE UNABLE TO REACH THE FORTRESS OF THAT NAME.

Mr. Garrison Offers Services.

The prompt action of former Secretary of War Lindley Garrison in offering his services to Secretary Baker gives indication that the public estimate of Mr. Garrison as one of the big men of the cabinet was correct. When the relations with Mexico were in a critical situation about two years ago, Mr. Garrison undoubtedly secured information, which will be of value to the war secretary in the present situation. Mr. Garrison has acted the part of a patriotic citizen, sincerely interested in the welfare of his country.

Autoists More Careful.

Automobile drivers, who are frequently belabored for gross carelessness, can find some reasons for self-complacency in the statistics which show that there were 290,000 automobiles in use in 1909 and 2,000,000 in use in 1915. Yet there were fewer accidents in the latter year than was true in 1909. A magazine writer calls attention to these figures and ventures the suggestion that not only are drivers much more careful than was formerly true, but horses have become "auto broke" and do not shy off from them on the highways, as once was true.

Millions of Women Can Vote.

The politician who figures that women will not be a large factor in the coming national election has overlooked the fact that about 4,000,000 of them will be eligible to vote this fall. The statement comes from the headquarters of the national suffrage union. Not all of the women will exercise the right. Some of them do not want to vote, and others will probably fail to cast a ballot because of confusion resulting from the decision of the state supreme court that women cannot vote for delegates to presidential conventions. Illinois women, let it be known, can vote in the presidential election this fall and can cast their ballots for the presidential electors in just the same way that men vote.

In the Twenty-first District.

The Twentieth Congressional district is not the only one wherein all is not wholly harmonious. The Springfield Journal yesterday displayed on the front page a message from Senator Sherman to Republican voters in the congressional district in which he asked support for Louis H. Miner of Sangamon county as member of the state central committee and E. S. Smith of Sangamon county. James B. Searcy of Macoupin, for delegates to the national convention, Frank R. Milner, Montgomery county, and Fred L. Kinney of Christian county as alternates.

Senator Sherman indicates by this announcement that the candidacy of J. E. McClure of Carlinville for member of the state committee and national delegate candidates selected by Mr. McClure and his associates are not to receive his O.K. The senator says that all of the Republicans mentioned are his best friends, but in view of all the facts that he finds in fairness he must ask support of the persons named. It was announced a few days ago that Mr. Miner would be a candidate for member of the state committee without opposition and Mr. McClure and some of his friends insisted that the only conference at which the Miner candidacy was considered was when Mr. Miner met with William Colvin, a Sherman campaign manager, and George Keys, chairman of the Sangamon county Republican committee.

Then the trouble commenced and two tickets of national delegates resulted, and the two candidates for state committee membership.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.
March 12, 1726.—The head of the Capuchin fathers in Louisiana protested against the military despotism and general misgovernment then prevailing in the whole province.

by several individuals and organizations especially for the protection of young men who are charged for the first time with infraction of the law. The interests which have pushed this ruling have rightly taken the ground that very frequently great injustice is done by the arrest of persons charged with offenses. The stigma coming from arrest very frequently has a bad effect, especially upon boys, and with first arrest, whether or not deserved, has come recklessness and carelessness from public opinion which sooner or later leads to crime.

Egg Prices Go Down.

If the price of pork continues to ascent, the advice of a state food commissioner that now is the time to eat eggs will seem appropriate. It is declared that the season of the year is about at hand when speculators in eggs use every effort to force prices downward until they have secured all the supply wanted for cold storage purposes. So the indications are that eggs will be about the cheapest food obtainable for the next sixty days.

Autos for Farm Hands.

No better evidence could be found of changing conditions on the farm than a contract which has just been recorded between a well known farmer living near Hooperston and his hired man. The farmer has agreed to pay the upkeep for an automobile belonging to his employee. The time was when as a special concession the farmer would provide a horse for his "hand" on Sunday, but the ideas of farm workers have advanced and lean toward extravagance just as well as is true with other people.

The incident is indicative too, of the increasing seriousness of the problem of labor on the farm. It is getting harder each year for the farm operator to secure good and reliable helpers at reasonable pay. This year the question promises to be more difficult of solution even than in some times past because of the special activity in industrial lines.

Why Gasoline Will Stay High.

In Farm and Fireside, Dr. Walter F. Rittman, chemical engineer of the United States bureau of mines guesses—and his guess is worth something—that gasoline will go right on advancing in price.

"In 1919 there were 350,000 automobiles in the country," he says.

"Now there are 2,250,000."

"A million new ones are added annually, while about one-fourth that number are 'scrapped.'

"There are about 390,000 gasoline engines working on farms, and 600,000 other farms are waiting to buy engines.

"There are about 300,000 motor boats in the country, using gasoline.

"The demand for gasoline is increasing by leaps and bounds. The supply of petroleum is decreasing.

"Before the war we were exporting about 160,000,000 gallons of gasoline annually. Now it is 300,000,000 to 400,000,000, or 20 to 40 per cent of the whole production."

The Sherman Vote.

Senator Sherman's vote on the armed merchantmen issue in the senate will further strengthen his position when the country at large fully recognizes the meaning of the stand he and a few other western senators took on the question. It is said by Washington political writers who are in touch with the situation, that a majority of the majority who voted against issuing warning to Americans did so contrary to their personal belief. So someone has said that in order to defeat the Democratic party that the national Republican convention must repudiate the action of the majority of the party in the lower house and thus say to the people that as a national party Republicanism has nothing in common with representatives who cannot see beyond the limits of their districts. It took wisdom and it took strength of character for the Illinois senator to make this stand on this question. His explanation of his vote has added to his prestige and increased the public appreciation of his statesmanship.

In 1862 Mr. Jumper enlisted in Co. D, 101st Ill. Infantry, and served until the close of the war. He was a member of the Methodist church and was a man highly regarded in the community in which he had lived for so many years.

Stop in tomorrow and have a talk with J. W. Lane about that spring suit.

NEW BOARD ORDER BRINGS WORRY TO STATE INSTITUTION PEOPLE

Various Local People Fear They May Lose Their Positions—Retirement Plans Not Yet Public.

Considerable anxiety is being felt at the three local state institutions because of the board of administration's retrenchment plans. As previously stated, it is the announced intention of the board to reduce the expenditures for all the state institutions by a total sum of $700,000. To accomplish this, certain sums for education are being allotted to each of the institutions. Following the visit of Col. Whipp, fiscal agent for the board, it became known that some of the "cutting" would be done here. It is said that the largest saving must be made at the School for the Deaf and that this must approximate $700 a month for a period of sixteen months. At the School for the Blind some curtailment has also been ordered, but it is understood that there will be little change of expenditure at Jacksonville State hospital. It is said that the expenditures there are within the appropriation made for the institution, and in the general estimate the hospital is given credit for caring for several hundred more patients now than at the beginning of the term.

The board of administration is to hold a meeting in Springfield Monday when it is the report orders will be issued abolishing certain positions at the state institutions and cutting down the salaries paid to persons holding other positions. Until that meeting is held and the action of the board is published, there will naturally be a lot of uneasiness among teachers and employees at the School for the Deaf and the School for the Blind.

We will feature a special line of the famous "Gage" hats at our opening, Thursday, March 16.

SAMUEL JUMPER INJURED BY FALL DIED SATURDAY NIGHT

Long Time Resident of the County Passed Away Suddenly—Here for More Than Fifty Years—Funeral Tuesday.

Samuel Jumper, an old resident of the county, sustained injuries at his home near Sinclair about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon that resulted in his death at 10:15 o'clock Saturday evening. It is not known just how Mr. Jumper was hurt, as no one was with him at the time. He went to the barn and in some manner fell and when he returned to the house was in great pain. Dr. Canaday was summoned and did everything possible for him, but he grew gradually worse until death came. An examination revealed several fractured ribs and it is probable that he was injured internally.

Mr. Jumper was 82 years of age and was born in Richland county, Ohio. He came to Illinois about 1852, residing for a time in Alexander and Union counties. He came to this county about 1854. He was united in marriage in 1858 to Miss Martha M. L. Spaulding of this city, who preceded him in death nine years ago. There survive the following children, Harriet M. L., William H. A. and Sarah Ellen Jumper at home and E. G. and J. A. Jumper of Garden Grove, Ia. A grandchild and great grandchild also survive.

In 1862 Mr. Jumper enlisted in Co. D, 101st Ill. Infantry, and served until the close of the war. He was a member of the Methodist church and was a man highly regarded in the community in which he had lived for so many years.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Hebron church with interment in Jacksonville cemetery.

MISS RACHEL JERAULD BECOMES BRIDE OF DR. W. E. ROSE

Marriage Ceremony Performed Saturday at Effingham—Both Bride and Groom Prominent in Musical Work.

The marriage of Miss Rachel Jerauld and Dr. W. E. Rose of Vandalia occurred in Effingham Saturday, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. G. Hurrell, pastor of the Presbyterian church there. Few people in Vandalia knew of the approaching wedding altho it did not come as a surprise. Dr. and Mrs. Rose started immediately after the ceremony for Milwaukee where they will visit relatives for ten days before returning to Vandalia.

Dr. Rose is exceedingly well known in Jacksonville. Following his graduation from the Conservatory of music here he was a member of the faculty for a five year period and resigned his position only a few months since. Mrs. Rose was recognized as a musician of exceptional ability and her work here in piano and pipe organ was of the highest order.

Dr. Rose before beginning the practice of medicine devoted his time to musical study and traveled extensively with a male quartet. His interest in music has been maintained thru the years and his voice is often heard now on recital programs. Now Dr. Rose has an extensive practice and is prominent in the social and civic life of his home city.

DUNN FUNERAL SATURDAY.

The funeral of John Dunn was held Saturday morning at the residence on East Lafayette avenue and burial was made in Calvary cemetery. The Rev. F. F. Formay was in charge of the services. The bearers were Patrick Quinlan, John Devlin, John Burkery, Harry Norris, Edward Sellers and John Daley.

acquiescence by the United States in the proposal of the defunct government would go far toward gaining the sympathy of public opinion in those parts of Mexico which are under the control of the recognized government.

Note Relieves Apprehension.

General Carranza's note relieved the apprehension of some administration officials who had considered that there was a possibility he might object to the presence of American troops on Mexican soil. The communication indicated that no objection would be raised under such a reciprocal arrangement as was suggested.

It generally is expected that American forces which probably will number in the neighborhood of 7,500 men, by Monday will be well on the trail of the bandits who raided Columbus. One of the chief causes of delay has been the necessity of replacing with infantry the cavalry troops which have been performing border patrol duty. Movements of troops have been in progress ever since General Funston received his orders to catch Villa, but their exact nature may not have been known for several days.

Discussion in congressional circles today indicated further that congress stands squarely behind the president in his determination to run down Villa marauders. The Senate foreign relations committee met and unanimously endorsed the president's action. In the house, Representative Mott of New York, a Republican member of the foreign affairs committee introduced a joint resolution justifying the president in the employment of armed forces of the United States" and setting forth that "the United States disclaims any hostility to the Mexican war on any purpose to make war on Mexico."

There was no general discussion of the subject on the floor of either house.

BLOOMINGTON WINS STATE HIGH BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Score of Final Game is 25 to 17. Over Robinson—DuQuoin Trims Springfield For Third Place.

Decatur, Ill., Mar. 11—Bloomington's remarkable basket shooting and perfect condition won for them the state high school championship here tonight. The score of the final game was 25 to 17 over Robinson. Robinson staked another eleventh hour rally, after falling behind in the first half 13 to 6 and the score stood 18 to 16 with ten minutes more to play. Mace at the critical moment came thru with two pretty baskets, both hard shots. Jennings followed with one more and a free throw by Greiner made it safe.

DuQuoin trimmed Springfield 33 to 13 for third place, Springfield taking fourth place. It was a runaway in the last half DuQuoin leading 14 to 10 at the end of the first period. Springfield gave many of its substitutes a chance to play.

FORMER MEREDOSIA RESIDENT IS UNDER ARREST IN DANVILLE

Dr. Estes and Associates Must Stand Trial in Federal Court to Answer Charges of Freight Stealing and Misuse of Mails.

DANVILLE, Ill., March 11.—In jail here awaiting trial in the federal court Monday are Dr. Logan Estes, formerly of Meredosia; William Boyer, J. C. Miller, Archie Flaherty and Tony Miller. The men are charged with stealing interstate shipments of freight and with using the mails to defraud. They were arrested following investigations made by detectives for the Wells Fargo Express company, who claimed to have found evidence that the men conspired to send packages of automobile supplies to the express company offices at various points and then to rob the offices. The men now awaiting trial subsequent to their arrest filed damage suits against the express company claiming false arrest.

Dr. Estes, for ten years, was a resident of Meredosia and left that town about eighteen months since to engage in the automobile business in Neoga. Nothing is known of the man's business or conduct since he left Meredosia by residents there, but a number of them have been subpoenaed as witnesses in the court trial at Danville.

A recent item which appeared in the Chapin notes referring to Mr. and Mrs. George Cain was incorrect. Mr. Cain quite frequently visits friends in Chapin, but is unmarried.

NAME COMMITTEE TO LOOK THRU PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION SAFES

State Senator Thompson of New York seeks letter written by Shonts to former chairman of the commission.

New York, Mar. 11—State Senator George F. Thompson, chairman of the legislative committee, today appointed a sub-committee to "look thru" all the safes of the Public Service Commission. A letter written by Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company to former Chairman Wilcox of the commission which admitted was a tentative offer by the corporation to build the subway without aid from the city, caused Senator Thompson to take this action. The letter was not in the regular files of the commission and the fact that it existed was not made known to Thompson committee until today.

Travis H. Whitney, secretary of the commission denied there were any secret archives kept by the commission.

Another letter introduced at the hearing today was from Timothy Williams, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company in which he charged that the "uptown office of the Interborough was at the city hall."

The letter, written after the late Mayor William J. Gaynor, had decided to favor the granting of subway contract to the Interborough instead of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, virtually accused the late mayor of being the representative of the Interborough.

A clash occurred today between Mr. Williams and Frank Moss, counsel for the commission. President Williams charged Mr. Moss with having given out wrong and misleading statements about him in connection with the $100,000 received from the company.

"I have not made any misleading statements about you," Mr. Moss replied.

"You're a liar," shouted President Williams.

Friends came between the men and the controversy ended.

Mr. Williams denied that the $100,000 in question was a bonus received for services in negotiating a $1,000,000 contract with the city.

He declared that nothing savoring a "graft or chookedness" could be imputed to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company.

Senator Thompson announced that the B. R. T. would be investigated "whether anyone liked it or not."

ORDERS SECOND BATTALION OF ENGINEERS TO ENTRAIN

Similar Orders are Issued to Field Hospital No. 7 and to Ambulance Company No. 7.

San Antonio, Texas, March 11.—Orders were issued at Fort Sam Houston late today for the second battalion of engineers, composed of Companies E, G, and H, with Major L. Brown, commanding, to entrain. Similar orders were issued to Field Hospital No. 7, Major Jereb Clayton, commanding and to Ambulance Company No. 7, Major Harold L. Jones, commanding.

No destinations were announced, except that the troops would "go west."

The engineering detail comprises one third of the United States engineering corps and the order to entrain indicates that heavy engineering work is expected ahead of the expeditionary force.

Each company of the battalion is composed of from 140 to 150 men. The automobile detail consists of 12 ambulances. It finished entraining tonight but the other detail probably will not be entrained before tomorrow afternoon.

Telegraph Company H, of the signal corps, is expected to leave tomorrow night and it is said three troops of cavalry and batteries A, B, C, of the third artillery, Major L. S. Lyon, commanding will be entrained about the same time.

ELKS' FOLLIES—MONDAY NIGHT

SUSTAINS STATE'S DEMURRER TO FERGUS PRIVATE RELIEF BILL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 11.—The state's demurrer to private relief bill of J. B. Fergus was sustained today by Judge James Creighton, of the Sangamon county court. The effect of this was to make the contested private relief appropriations of the legislature valid. There are thirty four claims affected totalling $85,800.

The claims were attacked by Fergus thru his attorney Fayette J. Munro on three grounds:

That there is a direct inhibition in the constitution against such action by the legislature; that the legislature is without power to give away money and that the subject matter of the appropriation bills was not affirmatively adjudicated in the court of claims.

Dr. Estes, for ten years, was a resident of Meredosia and left that town about eighteen months since to engage in the automobile business in Neoga. Nothing is known of the man's business or conduct since he left Meredosia by residents there, but a number of them have been subpoenaed as witnesses in the court trial at Danville.

WORK OF BABY WEEK
REVIEWED FOR CLUB

HISTORY AND PURPOSE OF OBSERVANCE TOLD BY MRS. STEARNS.

Great Importance of Early Childhood Care Emphasized in Paper Read at March Meeting of Jacksonville Woman's Club—Misses Eunice T. Gray Reads Well Known Modern Play.

"If Baby Week has done nothing more than to make possible the growth to manhood or womanhood of one better citizen it has not failed in its purpose," said Mrs. Henry V. Stearns, chairman of the Baby Week committee in a paper summarizing the activities of the week, read Saturday afternoon at the march meeting of the Jacksonville Woman's club. In the enforced absence of Mrs. Stearns the paper prepared by her was read by Mrs. Lillian I. Danskin. Mrs. J. K. C. Person, president of the club, opened the meeting surrendering the chair to Mrs. M. H. Havens, who took charge for the Civic committee. Mrs. Stearns was compelled to be absent and the paper was read by Mrs. James H. Danskin.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the play, "Tomorrow," by Percy MacKaye, read by Miss Eunice T. Gray, head of Academy hall. "Tomorrow" deals with eugenics and the practical working out of the eugenic ideal. Principles of scientific selection discovered by Luther Burbank, the author of this play, seeks to apply to the building of better and more noble humanity. Miss Gray spent some time in Carmel, California, near the scene of the play, and her exposition of the theme was thereby the more interesting. A collection of pictures from the environs of Carmel on exhibition during the past week at public library, was placed in the social room for inspection of the guests.

Mrs. Abe Wehl sang a group of three songs to accompaniment by Mrs. W. D. Roberts. "The Sumer Boat" by Jesse Gaynor, and "Mighty Lake a Rose" by Nevin, she sang especially well.

strong program for a meeting of men and women at the Public Library for Monday of baby week. Addresses by Dr. Reid and Miss Johnson were very interesting and profitable. Under Miss Barrett's direction a splendid exhibit of books was arranged for the parent and child. We hope many have availed themselves of the opportunity of becoming familiar with this literature.

The parents teachers' meetings in the several wards gave splendid programs devoted to the care of the child. All of them joined in a large Union Parents meeting at the David Prince school. The health commission, Chamber of Commerce and City Council were ably represented and talks were given by Mayor Rodgers and Mr. Weber. The very graceful and charming play with strong moral influence, "The Theft of Thistle-Down" was given by the pupils of the fourth ward.

A special effort was made to interest the children and make them feel that they were a vital part in this great movement. Sunday School classes made a point of the helpfulness of the children in the homes. The story hour at the Public Library was in charge of Miss Coale and the same thought of helpfulness was given to the children. Miss Johnson in her talks to the boys classes at the Y. M. C. A. showed how every boy by constructing an ice-box, screen and fly-trap could thus materially help toward the greater comfort and sanitation of his home.

Notices were sent to all of the educational institutions. At the Woman's College the Home Economics club devoted two papers to the subject of Public Welfare. The Home Economics girls of the High School and the members of the Social Service club at the Woman's College assisted at the Civic League meeting. The chapel service at the Woman's College on Tuesday morning was devoted to Child Welfare.

Baby Week Exhibits.

During the week, some eighteen of our merchants had splendid exhibits of children's articles in their windows and loaned many articles for the demonstration at the Clinic. Those most intimately connected with the work of this week feel deeply indebted to Miss Coale and Miss Johnson who in so short a time have become so vital a part of our community life.

In their talks and the splendid demonstrations at the clinic they have shown us how it is easily possible for us to have better babies, better mothers, better cities. The Manual Training department in our Public Schools contributed an ice-box, screen and fly-trap all of which can be cheaply and easily made at home. These are on display at the clinic. The Art Department at the Woman's College and Miss Dunmer of the Publicity committee designed beautiful posters, which have been used in the churches, library, stores and the Clinic during the week.

The Publicity committee has done great work in reaching the people at home and we are sorry to admit that the number there was large. The Press of the city has been most helpful and has been the great medium which has carried the work into the homes. The Business College has had its share in this movement by greatly assisting the Publicity committee.

The effort of the churches of the city, including the colored churches and the Salvation Army in bringing before the people the great necessity of both spiritual and physical perfection in our children has been the crowning help of the week. In this lies great hope for the future.

ROLAND STICE INJURED AT PUMPING STATION

WITH RIGHT ARM MANGLED, TELEPHONES FOR AID.

Falls in Such a Way That Arm is Thrust in Gear Wheel—Amputation Found to be Necessary and Arm Removed Below the Elbow.

Roland Stice employed as night man at the north side pumping station, had his right arm so badly crushed while on duty late last night that amputation was found to be necessary. Mr. Stice slipped and fell in such a way that the arm was thrust into a gear wheel. Regaining his feet, he walked to the telephone and with remarkable nerve and bravery, called the city light plant and awaited the coming of the rig. A rig was at once sent for the injured man and he was taken directly to Passavant hospital.

The arm was crushed almost to the elbow and it was apparent at once that the member could not be saved. Dr. King was summoned to attend the injury and Dr. W. P. Duncan assisted in the operation. The amputation was made three inches below the elbow.

Kept Presence of Mind.

Mr. Stice was fully conscious until the anaesthetic was administered and at no time did his nerve seem to fail him. Fred Stubblefield, engineer at the city light plant received the message of the accident about one o'clock and at once notified the hospital. Officer John Jordan was sent with the rig to bring in the injured man.

Bore Operation Well.

At 3 o'clock this morning Mr. Stice was still under the anaesthetic and the positive assertion could not be made concerning his condition, he seemed to be standing the operation in an encouraging manner.

The accident happened fifty yards or more from the main pump house and after extricating himself from the wheel Mr. Stice made his way thence and made the call for aid. Had his nerve for an instant deserted him the consequences of the accident could hardly be reckoned.

PREPAREDNESS MOST CONCERN RANK AND FILE OF WORLD'S ARMS

Major Gen. Wood Makes Declaration in Address Before Suffolk County Society.

New York, March 11.—The people whom preparedness most concern are the men and the wives and families of the men who in war constitute the rank and file of the armies of the world, Major General Leonard Wood declared in an address before the Suffolk County Society here tonight.

"They have, and we desire for them," he said, "a better possible destiny than to become food for powder, certainly not until all means to settle difficulties have become exhausted and we desire for their families a better future than starvation amid the ruins of their homes and villages.

"A better destiny would be rendered more probable and more secure by such well ordered measures in the way of preparedness as will protect us against unjust aggression.

"When once there is a general appreciation of the fact that equality of obligation goes with equality of privilege, or, in other words, that obligation goes hand in hand with suffrage we shall have much less loose talk about war and more effort to adjust international difficulties by means other than force whenever possible. We shall also have a much more serious appreciation of what a resort to force means for each and every one of us.

PROGRAM FOR THIRD WEEK AT BAPTIST CHURCH ANNOUNCED

Seventy-six Professions of Faith Recorded in First Two Weeks—Mr. Allen Will Go from Here to Massachusetts.

By special request and general consent it has been decided to continue the revival meetings, which have been in progress at the First Baptist church for another week. Mr. Charles F. Allen has arranged to remain for this extra week before beginning a union meeting at Athol, Mass. The interest during the two weeks has been of a most extraordinary nature and up to Friday night seventy-six professed faith in Christ. Seldom has a church been so unusually quickened as has this one. Many feared that the strain of a third week might be too much for the pastor of the church, the Rev. Percy W. Stephens, but Mr. Stephens says he feels fit and believes that many must be praying for him and the work or there would not have been such great results.

Program for Third Week.

A program of remarkable interest has been planned for the week, and in addition to special items of a musical nature which Mr. Allen will introduce each night a series of sermons of a unique nature has been announced by Mr. Stephens as follows. Each service begins at 7:30 p.m.

Sermon Topics.
Monday—"God."
Tuesday—"The Devil."
Wednesday—"Hell."
Thursday—"Heaven."
Friday—"The Judgment."
No Saturday meeting.
Sunday—A. M.—"The Purpose of Salvation."
Sunday—P. M.—"Nearly Saved."

VIRGINIA HAS TWO MOTHERS OF CIVIL WAR FIGHTERS.

Richmond, Va., March 11.—Mrs. Massie Fulton will celebrate at her home in Hamilton, Va., tomorrow her 95th birthday. She is one of two women living in this state who had sons in the Civil war. Her first-born son was killed while defending Richmond. Attached to her celebration tomorrow there is considerable local interest. Her sister, Mrs. Lydia Ann Virts, of Waterford, Va., also had a son in the war, but he fought on the northern side, and is living today. These sisters represent the sharpness with which the lines were drawn during the great struggle, one sending a son to wear the gray and the other to wear the blue.

WRECKING CREW TACKLES COAL LANDS COMBINE

Creditors and Steel Companies to Benefit From Thompson Holdings.

Uniontown, Pa., Mar. 11.—It is said that ninety per cent of the claims against Josiah V. Thompson, financial king of the coal lands and former president of the defunct First National Bank of Uniontown, have been filed with the Creditors' Committee, and that liquidation of the claims will begin next week. Three millions of dollars will be expended at once by the committee in paying interests on secured claims and taxes on Thompson's property.

Thompson went into the hands of a receiver over a year ago, simultaneously with the closing of his bank. Thompson was indicted last month by the Federal Grand Jury at Pittsburgh, in connection with the bank's affairs, and his trial is set for May 1. Since the crash in his big financial venture, which involved a wide circle of friends who had advanced him financial backing, Thompson has been a storm center. He has held to his big holdings of coal lands, despite the many stories afloat in Pittsburgh and New York that he was squeezed by steel magnates who wanted to secure control of his holdings. Many propositions have been considered, and some two thousand suits were filed against Thompson in connection with his debts and deals.

The present agreement, by which the secured and unsecured creditors are filing their claims with the Creditors' Committee, was worked out by Samuel Untermyer, the New York lawyer, who is counsel for the committee. The unsecured creditors are represented by the committee. According to the announced plans for liquidating Thompson's affairs, the committee is to distribute to the unsecured creditors after the secured creditors have been satisfied. It is believed that all claims will eventually be paid.

It is said that various steel companies are interested in securing the coal lands now held by Thompson, and that they will take over the holdings shortly at market prices.

Thompson's property in coal lands and other real estate is valued at over $65,000,000 by a committee appointed by the Fayette County court. They reported last year that Thompson owns a total area of 141,413.58 acres. In Greene County Thompson owns over 58,000 acres of coal lands and in West Virginia some 72,000 acres.

The federal prosecution of Thompson follows the expose by Comptroller of the Currency Williams of the conduct of Thompson's bank at Uniontown. He revealed how the law had been violated, how Thompson was allowed to borrow 120 per cent of the capital and surplus, and every vestige of sane and safe banking practice was ignored. Comptroller Williams declared that Thompson was summoned to Washington, and energetic measures were taken to save the situation and protect the depositors. The loans to Thompson were reduced, depositors were enabled to collect half of their deposits before the bank was closed. A former bank examiner is involved in the scandal, according to the comptroller.

A FEW KICKS.

"The vinegar you sent out to our house yesterday had gasoline in it," complained Quigway.

"Well, you ought to feel that you're ahead of the game," observed the grocer. "The way the price of gasoline has been climbing lately, a man's in luck to get some at the price of vinegar. But it's impossible to please some people. I reckon you'd kick if you were going to be operated on for appendicitis, Quigway. You've got a reputation as a kicker, and you feel that you must live up to it."

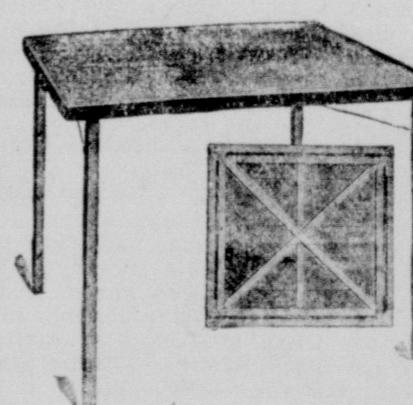

"If a man doesn't read the riot act when he gets stung," explained Quigway, "he'll be the fall guy for everybody, all the year round. It seems to me that merchants should be glad to have their attention called to the bad breaks they make, so they may avoid such breaks afterward, but they don't show the right spirit."

"I went to Bulger's meat market the other day to ask him what he means by sending me a pound and a half of bone when I order a pound and a half of meat. That man Bulger has no conscience at all. If he could buy a gutta percha cow, he'd be happy. He's so afraid he'll sell somebody a steak that's tender and juicy that he has grown old before his time. Worry of that sort is killing him."

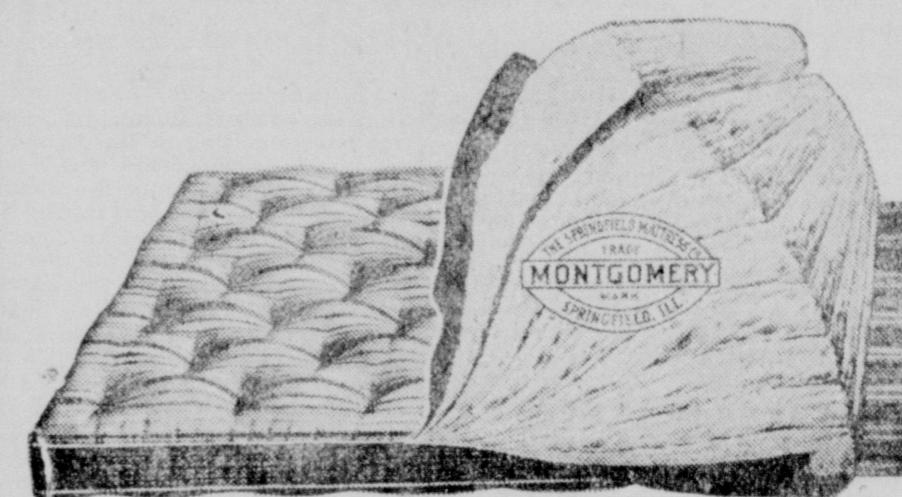

"Well, I went in and talked to him quite politely. No reasonable man would have taken offense at anything I said. But Bulger, after listening to a few words, picked up a sou'bone that must have weighed

"What does a merchant gain by such foolishness?"

This property is just about an equal distance from Concord, Chapin and Meredosia. Perry Cox was the auctioneer for the sale of the Story land. The sale was authorized by Samuel P. and George M. Story, special commissioners appointed in the chancery suit of Tyndall Story, special commissioners appointed in the chancery suit of Tyndall Story et al. vs. John H. Story et al. ## SUMMON JURORS FOR

OSBORNE TRIAL.

White Plains, N. Y., March 11.—Extra jurors to the number of 150 have been drawn for the trial of Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing, and noted social reformer and prison worker, who will face on Monday the charge of perjury brought against him in indictments. Justice Arthur S. Tompkins of the supreme court will hear the case, and great is the interest in the case that the extra jurors are provided to meet the many challenges that are expected.

The perjury charge against Osborne is that he denied to Dr. Dredging, sitting as a prison commissioner, that there were cases of immorality in Sing Sing, whereas twenty-one indictments were later found against convicts in the prison. It is the contention of the defense that Osborne said there were no cases of immorality then in the prison court, the discrepancy, according to Osborne, being due to a stenographer's error.

James Dobyns, Henry Stewart, William Davenport, S. T. Zachary, Andrew Harris, Sr. and Jr., were in the city yesterday from the vicinity of Orleans.

SOME REASONS FOR A STRONG NAVY

The weak navy in the past has resulted in prolonging our wars. And has caused the loss of an unnecessary number of lives and the destruction of property. A strong navy at the beginning of this country could have made another story of the Revolution and would have prevented the war of 1812 and shortened other wars. The Revolution lasted seven years, the Civil war four years, and the war with Spain and in the Philippines two years. A strong navy in the war of 1812 would have brought the trouble to a close in one short campaign. After the Revolution congress abolished the navy and we had no navy for eight years.

In 1797 the French pillaged our trading vessels in being defenseless without a navy. Finally a small number of frigates were built. One of them, being the Constitution, finally whipped a large French ship and our navy once more brought peace.

At the beginning of the Civil war our navy was so weak that our president could not relieve Fort Sumpter. The south seized every port on the coast and the Mississippi. They captured fifteen hundred guns in the New York navy yard and mounted them throughout the south. If the Monitor had not appeared upon the scene they would probably have gone then the north's blockade, which would have been disastrous to the union.

A strong navy in 1861 would have gained possession of all ports on the coast and Mississippi. This would have prevented the exportation of cotton to other countries, by which the south exchanged for firearms. The south could not have resisted more than a year without these imports. There were no manufacturers in the south for providing means of warfare. Hundreds of thousands of lives were lost and millions of dollars of property destroyed. Again, I say, the policy of a weak navy was disastrous.

In the last three years the navy has dropped from second to fourth place. The need of a strong navy is based upon our experience of one hundred and forty years. We have paid so dearly for war in the past that our need for a strong navy seems absolutely necessary.

A navy cannot be built in a short time. It takes years to train officers and years to build battleships. In case of immediate war it would take one year for the ammunition and manufacturing plants to get into proper condition to supply an adequate demand. Inexperienced men would have to be called upon to work in these plants.

The present position of the United States among powers necessitates military preparedness. The American people as a whole have a very foolish idea, that just because we desire to avoid war, is no guarantee that war will be prevented. And treaties are by no means a sure protection for a peaceful nation. No one can tell what part we may have to take in the European war. Just within the past two weeks England has been stopping our vessels and searching the mail. She has forbidden us to trade with Norway, Denmark and Sweden. We have not exported to these countries for months. Germany sinks a United States steamer whenever she feels like it. The president knows and the people know that we have not a modern navy of the day that is powerful enough to back up our bluff. Therefore the government has been careful in approaching these warring nations that have troubled her rights upon the sea. Our efforts to remain a peaceful nation would be better respected if we were in a position to enforce our decisions.

What is the main reason for these long debates and arguments between our government and Germany? Our notes to Germany do not worry them very much. They know we are not in a position to cross thousands of miles of water and do any harm even if we wanted to. They don't fear us in the least, our navy is weak.

President Wilson stated in his St. Louis address not long ago that the United States should have the greatest navy in the world. There is no navy in the world that has so great an area to cover as the American navy.

There is no surer thing that we will not be drawn into war with Mexico and war with Japan has long been predicted. We may be drawn into war with the victor in the present European war. This would most likely come thru our interests in South America. The United States is constantly fighting foreigners for the South American trade. And now since we have control of the Panama canal the foreign powers have become prejudiced against the United States in the days of the Revolution Washington relied too much upon the great expanse of the sea to a certain extent for protection. Since the building of modern warships it is no impossible for an enemy fleet to leave Europe and attack New York within a week's time.

Military preparedness makes for peace. Any nation would be apt to attack us if their chances of winning were good. And a weak navy is the first indication of unpreparedness. The cost of military unpreparedness is greater than the cost of preparing for war. The world's history has proved to us that an army which is thoroughly trained is at a great disadvantage, the men are not trained to take care of themselves. A great loss of life is the penalty. The civilians cannot use the modern weapons of warfare without training and months of practice. Now, if these soldiers cannot properly handle the simple weapons of war how would they be capable of handling the great guns of moving battleships? These enormous moving floating pieces of machinery are extremely complicated. Each man has certain duties to perform in relation to the next man. The crew must work as a unit. If one man fails to do his part a flaw results in the management of the best battleship management. We can only afford to put the best trained men upon these vessels which cost the government millions of dollars.

It is really amusing to witness the first two months of military drill which the freshmen go thru at the University of Illinois. President James of the university is at present in the east trying to make this school a four year military school instead of two years. This would place the university on an equal footing with West Point and would fit graduates to a salaried office in the United States army.

Not only the cost of life, but the construction of property always results. Loss of property would occur again if New York was invaded. There is to be considered the cost of ammunition, the interest on war debt and pensions. The United States is not prepared for war. England, Germany and France are much superior in their navies. And our army is smaller than the armies of Russia, Germany, France, Austria, Italy, Japan, Great Britain, Switzerland and even Mexico. A trained army is not so essential as a navy. However, our mobile army in the United States is too small after provision is made for guarding our out-lying possessions, our coast defence and the of the world.

Robert Stawen

A larger navy is advisable to defend our 21,000 miles of coast, to guarantee the neutrality of the Panama canal.

The navy is a splendid national public school for the young man. The government teaches the men some trade, and at the expiration of their enlistment they are fitted for some occupation in life. The enlisted men in the navy are trained to be patriotic and to respect the law. The

QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD.

Answered by Alfred W. McCann.
Q. Is there any objection to the use of peanut oil as a salad dressing?

Mrs. Emily B. Schriber
A. Peanut oil has but one objection as a foodstuff. It is difficult to obtain. Its use is discouraged accordingly. It is an excellent article of food. I wish more of it were to be had.

Q. Are oranges good for a baby twelve months old? Mrs. R. F.

A. If you mean the juice of ripe oranges, minus the pulp, and are sure you know the difference between a ripe orange and a green one, the answer is yes, emphatically yes.

Even at the age of six or eight months a few teaspoonsfuls of sweet, clear orange juice can be given with benefit to any infant, except where, for some special reason, a physician says no.

Contrary to popular opinion, ripe orange juice is not of the acid-producing type. Its mild organic acids are quickly oxidized in the body, and its valuable alkaline, calcium and potassium salts are surrendered at once to the internal secretions, bones and tissues of the infant.

I would give all the infants in the world ripe orange juice if I had the oranges to give. They thrive on it. The sweeter the orange (without sugar) the better. Natural sweetness is an evidence of orange maturity. Sour oranges are not good for babies, and to disguise the sourness behind a mask of sugar only makes them worse.

Q. I have read with great interest your articles on food values and have been helped thru them. Several of my friends have been helped also. Your articles are enlightening many, like myself, who have been mistreating our stomachs.

Please publish a representative menu for three or four days of three meals a day, so that I might get the most benefit from my food and avoid that which I do not need.

I am 35 years of age, weigh 160 pounds, five feet, nine inches in height, and have an occupation which keeps me out of doors all the time, but which is nevertheless quite sedentary. V. R.

A. My article published Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays are rapidly leading to the development of just such a menu as you ask for. But please remember that any food reform which imposes a burden upon its followers is apt to be no food reform at all.

It is not necessary to confine one's diet to a few fixed articles of food combined in certain monotonous portions.

The food truths which I am striving to spread involve no such hardships. If you will follow closely the principles laid down it will be impossible for you to go wrong in making a selection for breakfast, dinner or supper from the nearest foods at hand, provided only that they be not of the commercially manipulated, denatured and impoverished kind. How to determine that you will soon know.

Your diet, if you can afford it, may include every known edible product or it may consist of a few simple articles. One could live if he wished, and be better for the experience, for an entire year upon apples, whole meal bread, and milk, for the reason that these three foods contain, in generous proportions, all the elements necessary to normal nutrition including, in addition to proteins, fats and carbohydrates, the indispensable salts, colloids and vitamins on which life and health depend.

From this simple formula there are a thousand departures each of which, selected in accordance with a common sense understanding with the principles of nutrition, would be all sufficient to meet the daily needs of the body.

As we get into our subject these combinations will be discussed, and the reasons behind them made so clear that any 12-year-old child will find no difficulty in avoiding wrong combinations or in selecting the right ones.

Q. For some unknown reason my family has developed a great fondness for boiled onions with cream sauce. In consequence I am obliged to serve onions for dinner almost every evening. Onions, as I have always supposed, are very wholesome vegetables, and my family seems to thrive upon them.

Of course there are other kinds of vegetables, but the onion seems to be the piece de resistance. Can one eat too much of them? Are they apt to be injurious? What effect do they have on the system?

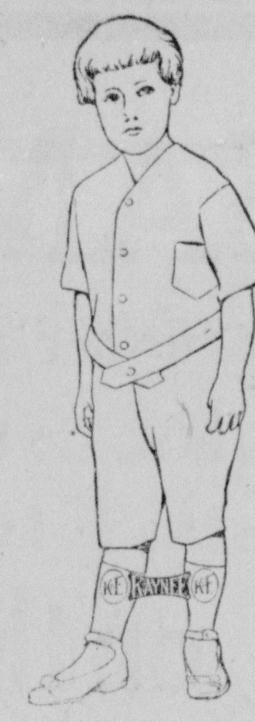

A. I have respect for the partiality of your family for onions, which in themselves are worthy of the attention you give them. You need not be afraid of eating too many onions. Before any injurious effects could follow their use, particularly when boiled and served in the sauce made of their own juice, your family would grow tired of them and manifest a preference for something else, returning in time to the onion.

Boiled onions might be grouped among the succulent foods, of which string beans, asparagus, cabbage or sauerkraut, spinach, tomatoes, artichokes, celery, Brussels sprouts, sweet peppers, etc., are types.

They are rich in calcium, phosphorus and iron, and are classified among the base-forming foods, which means that they are of great value wherever acid-forming foods, such as meat, fish, cheese, sugar, and starch, are consumed.

The French have attained eminence in the art of cookery, partly thru their partiality to the onion. The onion is good not only on ac-

SOME NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS.

Miss Helen L. Sumner, assistant chief of the children's bureau at Washington, which conducted the Baby Week campaign throughout the country, is 40 years old today. Miss Sumner is a noted investigator and author, and is well equipped to aid Miss Julia C. Lathrop, the vigorous chief of the bureau. Miss Sumner was born in Sheboygan, Wis., March 12, 1876, and was graduated from Wellesley in 1898. She studied and taught political economy in the University of Wisconsin, and has been for a dozen years a collaborator with the American Bureau of Industrial Research. Her investigations included an extensive study of women suffrage in Colorado. She is a member of many societies of economists and social workers. Among her books are "The White Slave," which she wrote at the age of 20; "Labor Problems," "Equal Suffrage," "History of Women in Industry" (report of the U. S. department of labor), and "Industrial Courts in Europe." She became connected with the children's bureau in 1913, as industrial expert, and the bureau has advanced to an importance recognized by the world at large since that time. Miss Sumner is an expert on the child labor situation, and she is the government's watch-tower over this field of inquiry.

CROSS OVER THE BORDER

"Cross over the border." The clear words rang out
On the crisp morn air; and never a doubt
Had the soldier who heard, and he moved away,
Where trained and waiting he stood to obey.

"Cross over the border." 'Twas a nation heard
And a nation bowed at the thrilling words;
In silence and grief it bowed to pray,
To ask for wisdom while mourning "The Day."

"Cross over the border." They struggle for light,
While held in the chaos and darkness and blight,
"Cross over the border." There are hearts that pray,
For peace and freedom, for a better day.

"Cross over the border." They
Who scoff at the freedom which sweet peace affords;
Half savage, half mad in their wild, joy gloat
At the white man's moans and the blood at his throat;

"Cross over the border." May the God whom we trust,
Break the shackles of hatred. Be broken they must,
"Cross over the border." Oh, fly ye white dove,
With thy symbol of peace, thy message of love.

"Cross over the border." May freedom and light;
Be the sign of our crossing dispelling the night.

—S. Adrian Hughes.

FALLING OFF OF SHIPPING DEMAND TURNS HOGS DOWNGRADE

WHEAT PRICES UNDERGO A DECIDED SAG IN VALUE

Market Closes Weak at 1% to 2% Cents Net Lower—Corn Displays Relative Firmness.

Chicago, March 11.—Wheat underwent a decided sag in value today, influenced by bearish estimates of stocks in the chief exporting countries and by the torpedoing of a Norwegian steamer which had Americans in its crew. The market closed weak, 1% to 2% net lower, with May at 1.09% and July at 1.08%.

Corn finished unchanged to a sixteen higher, oats varying from 1% off to 1% advance, and provisions up 2% to 2 1/2%.

Lowest prices of the day in the wheat market were reached after word was received that the lives of seven American sailors had been endangered by a torpedo used without warning. On the break which resulted from this news, many holdings of wheat were sacrificed under standing emergency orders to sell out a fixed limit so as to put a stop to losses. The outlook was for a small decrease in the domestic visible on Monday, whereas the falling off a year ago was 2,333,000 bushels.

Corn displayed relative firmness throughout the day as compared with wheat. The principal immediate reasons were export inquiry and the lightness of receipts. Considerable irregularity developed in the oats market. Hedging sales from the northwest depressed the May option, but July hardened in sympathy with corn.

Speculative buying, especially in the last fifteen minutes of the session, rallied provisions from an early decline. At first the market had lacked support, and was inclined to give way owing to a setback in the price of hogs.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS CLOUD SHORT STOCK SESSION

Trading Element Evidently Views Developments with Increased Misgivings.

New York, March 11.—Mexican affairs and reports of further submarine activity in the European war zone clouded today's short session, the trading element evidently viewing these developments with increased misgivings, while investors held altogether aloof. Crucible Steel led the list on its brief advance, but fell back later when the market receded under selling of Reading, New York Central and Southern Pacific. Metal shares were temporarily lifted to higher levels, with especial activity in American Zinc and Butte and Superior, but these issues also lost ground.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 282,000 shares. Steadiness was shown by Americans in the London market, but reports were current of further offerings of these issues for German and Dutch accounts. There was nothing in the rate for exchange, however, to bear out such reports. Week end news of a general character included the reviews of the mercantile agencies which were of the same hopeful tenor as those of recent weeks, showing sustained activity in numerous lines of industry and unabated demand. Local bank loans showed an actual decrease of $18,484,000, with an increase of about $31,000,000 in demand and time deposits and a slight decrease of reserves.

NOTES FROM THE DRAINAGE CONFERENCE

"There is no field of engineering endeavor that is of such great importance to the health of the human inhabitants of the earth as drainage engineering." This opening sentence of the address of Mr. Paul Hansen, Chief Engineer of the State Board of Health, before the Drainage Conference of the University of Illinois well explains the full import of land drainage to human life. In his address on "The Relation of Drainage

How Two Men Cured LaGrippe

"Last winter I suffered with a terrible cold and a case of la grippe," writes E. C. Rhodes of Middleton, Ga. "When getting well of la grippe I still had a hacking cough and for several months would get no relief. Finally I began taking Foley's Honey and Tar and soon I was well of both cough and cold and it never returned."

G. Prevo, Bedford, Ind., writes: "After having an attack of la grippe it left me with a severe cough and I tried everything. I lost in weight and got so thin it looked as though I would never live. A bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and two bottles cured me. I am now well and back to normal weight."

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a home remedy and is seldom fails to relieve coughs, colds, a cough, whooping cough, raw and inflamed throat, tight and sore chest, irritated tickling throat and bronchial coughs.

to Public Health" the speaker pointed out the importance of land drainage in exterminating mosquitoes. Mr. Hansen described the recent drainage project near the city of Louisville, Kentucky. He stated that an increase in property value of $3,000,000 or 7.7 times the estimated cost of the improvement will result soon after its completion.

Mr. H. L. Anderson of the Illinois Central Railroad read an address prepared by Mr. W. L. Park, vice-president, on "The Relation of Railroads to Drainage." Mr. Park, expressed the view that the railroads were in all cases pioneers in securing the development and settlement of the country thru which their properties passed and were desirous of co-operating with the public in securing needed improvements. He advocated the securing of federal action in the reclamation of large areas of land where it would be very difficult to secure the co-operation of a large number of private property owners.

Jacob A. Harman, Consulting Engineer of Peoria, Illinois, in his address on "Organizing and Financing Drainage Districts" gave a comprehensive statement of methods used in various states to secure the establishment of drainage districts and of proper methods of financing the work. He clearly showed that drainage bonds based upon a tax upon land in the drainage districts had a permanent place in the money markets.

That many of the overflowed and swamp areas in the state of Illinois are extremely fertile and would, if reclaimed, be capable of yielding crops as heavy as any land in the state, is the opinion of C. G. Hopkins, Professor of Agronomy, University of Illinois, who addressed the Drainage Conference at the afternoon session, March 9. Professor Hopkins, however, called attention to the fact that infertility of the soil could not be corrected by drainage, and that if the essential elements of limestone, potassium, nitrogen and phosphorus are lacking, the reclaimed lands may not be worth the cost of removing the water.

Hon. LeRoy K. Sherman, Commissioner, Illinois Rivers and Lakes Commission, stated that the cause of drainage in Illinois would be materially helped by the enactment of a State Drainage Act under which important drainage projects could be prosecuted by a central controlling body and improvements involving entire river basins could be carried on for the good of all land owners involved. Mr. Sherman explained that under the present system, however, the rivers and lakes commission is working in an advisory capacity with the drainage district officials and much is being accomplished.

Frank V. Knight, past president of the National Drainage Congress in discussing the economic aspects of drainage stated that the area and productivity of the swamp and overflooded lands in the United States were sufficient to support an increase in population of more than a hundred million people and that no matter what the cost of reclamation the result would justify the expenditure. As affecting the health of communities, Mr. Knight pointed out that, owing to the drainage work of the past 40 years, the death rate from malaria had been reduced from 53 per thousand to less than 5 and that the effect on personal efficiency was even more marked.

Professor A. B. McDaniel of the department of civil engineering gave an illustrated talk on drainage machinery in which he explained a new method of building stratified levees to reduce the effect of erosion due to heavy rains.

At the informal dinner held at the Beardsley hotel at 6 o'clock March 9, Dr. F. H. Newell, formerly director of the United States Reclamation Service gave an illustrated lecture on the reclamation of the arid lands of Wyoming and New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edwards of Greenfield are spending Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ragland.

Alfred Dickey, who is attending the University of Illinois came home Tuesday on a business trip and expects to return to Urbana today.

Miss Emma Post of Springfield and Mrs. John McCoy of Waterbury, Conn., are visiting Miss Carrie Root over Saturday and Sunday.

Ralph Rogus, who is located in East St. Louis was visiting relatives in Waverly the fore part of the week.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Conley, March 8.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Branom, March 8.

The Amateur Musical Club met with Miss Bess Bradford in her studio March 7. A program of music and readings was given.

Both the Boys' and Girls' basketball teams of the Lincolnian Society won over the Washingtonian teams.

MOTHER! YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, FROM CONSTIPATION

If tongue is coated, breath bad, stomach sour, clean liver and bowels.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs"; then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Adv.

LAND O'NOD STORIES

THE BUSY CARPENTERS.

"Goodness gracious, its beginning to get dark and Billy Bo By Bo Bum is a long ways from home," said Tinker Teedie Tee. "I am afraid we will have to say goodbye, your majesty."

"You are welcome to stay here for the night," said the Queen. "I guess I could find you a comfortable place to sleep, altho of course you wouldn't have a bed."

"Thank you, but I am afraid my mother would be worried if I didn't get home before dark," replied Billy.

"That is so, I never thought of that," said the Queen. "But you must promise to come and see me soon again."

Billy promised, and after saying goodbye to the Queen and the captain of the guard who had showed them thru Antland, Billy Bo By Bo Bum and Tinker Teedie Tee set off thru the oak forest for home. Before they had gone very far they came to an old rail fence, and at the foot of one of the posts Billy saw a pile of sawdust that, compared with his present size, was several feet high.

"Ho ho, we have stumbled onto a nest of Carpenter Ants," said the merry little elf when he saw the pile of tiny chips, and as he spoke a grain of sawdust dropped from the top of the fence, striking him on the head, but, of course, it didn't hurt him, for it bounced off the weeny copper kettle he wore for a hat.

"Why, I don't see any nest," said Billy, looking all around.

"Oh, yes, you do," replied Tinker.

"But I don't," protested Billy, rubbing his eyes and taking another look.

"You see the top rail of this fence, don't you?"

"Of course. But I don't see any ants' nest."

"Well, their home is inside that rail," replied the elf. "You see these fellows are true carpenters. They always build their nests in tree trunks, old logs, rail fences or the beams of houses, hollowing the rooms and galleries out of the solid wood. Now this pile of sawdust shows they are enlarging the city by cutting out new rooms, and if it wasn't so late, I would take you thru their city."

"Oh, we have time to just peek in for a minute," coaxed Billy.

"Alright, but mind we can't stay long," agreed Tinker, spreading his wings and flying onto the fence.

Billy climbed the post as best he could. He reached the top rail just in time to see a big black ant dive into a hole in the side.

Billy and Tinker followed and found themselves in a dark passage, which soon widened out into a big store room. Altho they passed scores and scores of ants, the busy carpenters did not pay any attention to them and there was no guard at the gate.

"You see the entrance to the city is well hidden and an enemy would have a hard time finding it," said Tinker. "So the carpenter ants do not need to be as careful as their cousins, who live in a big hill which everyone can see."

"But I should think that pile of sawdust would give them away," protested Billy.

"So it would if it was allowed to remain there," replied Tinker. "But the wise little carpenters know that and do not let any signs of their work remain to tell an enemy that an ant nest is nearby."

"What becomes of the sawdust?" asked Billy.

"Let's go and see," the elf answered. So, after walking thru the city, which was arranged much like the one they had left a short time before, except that all the rooms were cut out of the solid wood, they retraced their steps to the entrance and climbed down to the ground.

There was the pile of sawdust at the foot of the post, and every few seconds an ant would come to the entrance above and drop a fresh chip on the pile. About a dozen ants were swarming over the heap, seizing chips in their jaws and carrying them off into the oak forest.

"They will keep that up until there is not a grain of sawdust left," said Tinker. "They know it would betray their whereabouts, so they carry the chips away and scatter them about at random in the forest."

"Never again will I say that an animal can't think," said Billy. "It seems to me the ants we have seen today have more sense than lots of people I know."

"You are not so very far wrong in thinking that," replied the elf.

For several minutes Billy stood watching the porters hurrying off into the forest with their loads. Then Tinker pulled out his magic black wand and tapped Billy lightly on the head. It seemed to Billy as tho a cloud settled over everything. The ants and the pile of sawdust faded away in a mist. Then all at once he found himself sitting under the apple tree where he had first met the elf.

"Tinker, oh Tinker Teedie Tee, where are you?" shouted Billy, but as there was no answer and as the sun was getting ready to go to bed behind the western hills, Billy jumped up and ran home as fast as his chubby little legs would carry him.

MIDLAND RAILROAD TO BE EXTENDED TO WAVERLY

Right of Way Has Been Secured From Auburn to Morgan County Town—Purpose is to Secure More Railroad Connections for Peabody Mines.

Waverly, Ill., March 11.—People here are greatly interested in the possibility of another railroad. The possibility is almost a certainty as the right of way for the Illinois Midland line has been secured from Auburn to Waverly. The line was built some years ago by the Peabody interests, who control large coal hauling in addition to public service corporation properties. An extension of the line indicated will give the mining company that the Peabody interests own the desired additional railroad connections. They would touch the Northwestern, C. P. & St. L. and Burlington. Altho the promoters of the road say that Waverly will be the terminus, people here are very much in hope that the line will be extended thru Nortonville and the country further to the southwest. This merchants here believe would greatly widen their trade territory. That view is practically certain as indicated by the fact that almost all the right of way has been secured. It has just developed that agents for the company have been quietly at work for several months securing these options.

In the morning he will speak on, "The Commandable Gospel," and this evening on "The Literature of Eternity."

BELIEVES CERTAIN EUROPEAN POWER TRIED TO CREATE FRICITION

TOKIO, Japan, March 11.—It is the belief of the Japanese foreign minister, that a certain European power, in the past has endeavored to create differences between Japan and the United States to further its own end.

This opinion was expressed by the foreign minister in a statement before the Association of America's Friends. He gave it as his opinion that the efforts of the European power were exerted for the purpose of serving its own aspirations for domination. As that power now is occupied with its own troubles, the baron said, the source of intrigue has been removed.

Relations between Japan and America have never been so good as today, he continued and their friendship will become even more cordial, assisted by the people.

Besides Hannibal and Jacksonville cities represented by volleyball teams will be Quincy, Carthage and Keokuk. Mr. Brewer and his men will go with strong hopes of winning. The Jacksonville team has won two victories from Springfield professional and business men and hope that in Hannibal they may be able to fight thru the series.

JUNIOR A TOURNAMENT.

Four fast games were played Saturday forenoon and this number of the Junior A tournament series proved that the boys understand the game of basketball. Strong team work on the part of Stewart and Bennett brought victory to the Fords. The Fords were winners by a 7 to 3 score, Stewart making all the points.

The Overlands took the Hudsons into camp by a score of 10 to 1, and their victory is explained by the quality of the team work shown. Capt. Cornick was chief point maker for the Overland team. In the third game of the morning the Bucks won from the Stutz team, 13 to 2, and in the Buick team Struck and Lewis were the star players.

Following is the present standing of the teams in the Junior A league.

WRONG INFORMATION.

Yesterday the report was passed on the streets that a "choice" few of the Elks had obtained all the desirable seats for the Elks Follies at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night, and that all the seats were sold. The Elks Committee has asked the Journal to state that such report is untrue. There are even now a few desirable seats to be had. No tickets were honored before 8:45 Friday morning except a few mail orders. The sale was supposed to have opened at 9 o'clock but owing to the long line in waiting at 8:30 and who expected to wait until the window opened at 9 it was decided to dispose of the crowd and rush as much as possible at 9:00 o'clock.

The Elks Follies should not be missed by anyone who enjoys high-class vaudeville and good comedy.

Store News

Behind the Scenes in a Decorator's Work Shop

While spring openings and window exhibits are still in the making the average person who views the unveiling of the work of the decorator pays but little heed to the planning, detail, and expense incident to the assembling of the finished window decoration. The publicity of a store service organization and the window display department are in close touch as the one connects up with the other in the result of the publicity obtained.

So the Ad. man will take you on tour down secret labyrinths where visitors are rare, in the den to the workshop of the decorator where lights are spotted brightly to illuminate the dark spots of the crowded crannies. You are cautioned to best look out or else you will get a dash of paint on your clothes from the scenic pieces scattered around or stub your toe against the numberless frames for these work shops are not very tidy with scattered paint pots, ornamental columns, and work benches, and are much like between scenes on back stage for a big scenic production and the strenuous necessary for their completeness for a stated time entails many days work, and hours in the night to insure their readiness for opening days.

For these displays may be planned weeks ago but the getting out and revising of plans, building the skeleton frames, devising the color scheme and decoration, with delays take endless time and patience, each change of background must be in keeping with the season for the setting and color scheme being entirely different for each occasion the artistic must blend in harmony with the practical, otherwise the merchandise would not be effectively displayed. The window displays in this store have always been maintained to a certain standard, each year we try to excel. Thursday opening day we present the 1916 windows for your admiration and approval.
